

Headlines

I am delighted to welcome back all our Collingwood families to a new term and wish you all a very happy new year. It has been great to see all the children again and hear about their Christmas holidays and what they were lucky enough to receive from Father Christmas!

It has already been a busy week of learning and super effort and we have been really pleased with the way in which our pupils have shown a positive approach to their work and school life. In our individual approach to education, we are proud of the way in which we encourage and develop resilience and perseverance in our pupils and this has been a key theme for our assemblies this week (our Thought for the Week is an example of this).

On that note, as you will have noticed, no amount of resilience or strength could have saved our school wall when it was hit by a vehicle during the early hours of Wednesday morning! I would like to thank you again for your patience and understanding as we wait for the area to be cleared and for the wall to be rebuilt.

Remember the early bird offer for our 90th celebration ends soon, so do book your tickets as soon as you can.

Finally, I would like to say thank you to those who completed the short anonymous parent survey that we sent out at the end of last term. We would still like more parents to respond before we close the survey on Monday, so please do follow the link (<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/3XRQ56L>). I assure you that it is very brief; it will only take a couple of minutes but it does provide useful feedback for us. Thank you again and I wish you all the best for the weekend.

Mr Leigh Hardie, Head

Thought of the WEEK..

When the wind blows hard on a tree, the roots stretch and grow the stronger

What job do a tree's roots do? Why do they need to grow stronger?

How does this show the tree's resilience when faced with challenges or difficulties? In what ways can we be like a tree? How can our roots grow stronger?
